

Native Texas Plants with Wildlife Value

The plants on this list are perennial, most with blooms, fruit, or seeds that benefit wildlife, and all are suitable for landscape/naturalizing. For more information, go to the website www.growgreen.org. There are many nurseries in and around Austin that sell natives; check www.davesgarden.com for links to places that sell specific plants.

Shrubs or small trees:

Mexican Buckeye
Red Buckeye
Possumhaw Holly
Texas Mountain Laurel
Mexican Plum
Mexican or Texas Redbud
Rusty Blackhaw Viburnum
Coralberry
Flame Acanthus
Texas Sage
Turk's Cap

Vines

Crossvine
Coral Honeysuckle
Passion Vine
Trumpet Vine

Groundcover

Gregg Dalea
Frogfruit
Horseherb
Pigeonberry
Sedum
Violet

Perennials:

Black-eyed Susan
Calylophus (Square Bud Primrose)
Chile Pequin
Red Columbine
Coralbean
Coreopsis
Blackfoot Daisy
Englemann Daisy
Esperanza (Yellow Bells)
Fall Aster
Gayfeather
Texas Lantana
Obedient Plant
Rock Penstemon
Mexican Primrose
Purple Coneflower
Rock Rose
Cedar Sage
Autumn Sage
Big Red Sage
Tropical Sage
Lindheimer Senna
Heartleaf Skullcap
Spiderwort
Verbena
Perennial Winecup

Compiled from the GrowGreen guide Native and Adapted Landscape Plants published by Texas AgriLife Extension and the City of Austin.

Louise Ridlon
Texas Master Naturalist
Lost Pines Chapter
February 10, 2011